Mike Marsella joined team MJ in 2006 as a surety consultant specializing in the construction industry. His focus and commitment to construction companies fueled his professional growth and led him to assume his current role as vice president within our Surety division.

Mike works with contractor clientele of all sizes, and his deep knowledge extends to virtually every facet of the construction industry. Mike is instrumental in contract design, financial analysis, succession planning, board advisory, ESOP matters, and all things surety bonds.

Before joining MJ, Mike spent nearly a decade in the financial sector, honing his skills in trend analysis, transaction protocols, and business continuity best practices. The value Mike brings to our clients is not just professional but is also deeply rooted in his commitment to building relationships and understanding the unique needs of those he serves.

Beyond his professional commitments, Mike dedicates most of his time to cheering on his kids in their sports and other activities. He finds joy outdoors, spending quality time with friends and family. Mike also nurtures a passion for travel, with dreams of someday spending an entire summer exploring Europe.
