Daniel Orr joined the MJ team in 2011 as the vice president of our Japanese-Owned Business division. Leveraging his experience on both sides, Daniel leads our dedicated Japanese team in crafting innovative strategies that take our clients' risk management and employee benefits programs to new heights.

As a native of Japan, Daniel has extensive bilingual and bi-cultural expertise spanning Asia and North America. Deeply rooted in the Japanese business community, Daniel serves as a valuable resource for Japanese executives, providing critical insight and guidance on insurance policies and programs. He also spearheads an exclusive Japanese Executive Education Series to familiarize newly posted Japanese executives with insurance and employee benefits practices in the U.S.

Before joining MJ, Daniel made significant contributions in his role at Develop Indy, where he fine-tuned his strategic planning and patron support skills. He excelled in attracting and retaining Japanese and Chinese direct investments. His multifaceted expertise and dedication make him an indispensable asset to MJ and our clients.

Outside of work, Daniel finds joy in nurturing his other interests and spending quality time with loved ones, including his three kids.
