In 2000, Laurie Schoening became a valuable member of the MJ team, taking on the role of a risk transfer specialist in the Risk Management + Commercial Insurance department. In her capacity, Laurie is dedicated to coordinating service and marketing strategies. She also utilizes data analytics to identify potential gaps in coverage, offering insightful recommendations to address these limitations. Beyond managing the day-to-day needs of her accounts, Laurie collaborates with her team to deliver clients tailored risk management solutions that best suit their distinct needs.

Prior to MJ, Laurie's journey in the risk management industry spans over 40 years, making her a true veteran and expert in the field. She has honed her skills in various specializations, including garage, service, technology, municipalities, manufacturing and construction. Laurie's approach to these unique industries has been instrumental in developing programs to respond to clients' specialized needs.

Outside of work, Laurie is very passionate about serving the community. She also loves spending time with her family, reading and gardening. In college, Laurie was passionate about language studies and was able to live abroad for a month in France while studying the French language. She would love to go back to Europe one day to see more of France and Spain.
