Carol J. Scully joined the MJ team in 2014 as strategic risk management director in the Risk Management + Commercial Insurance department. With over 20 years of global risk management experience, Carol oversees our comprehensive risk management initiatives and is MJ's resident cybersecurity expert. Her specializations include global risk management, program development and implementation, crisis management and response, cyber loss prevention, and a keen understanding of the dynamic requirements impacting business operations.

Carol recently received her Cyber COPE Insurance Certification (CCIC) from Chubb and Carnegie Mellon University. The CCIC is testament to her deep understanding of the best practices in the cyber security risk management, governance and operations.

Before MJ, Carol worked as director of risk for several Fortune 100 companies and has extensive experience in heavy construction, healthcare, service and manufacturing, as well as the industrial robotic and CNC industries. Her extensive background gives her a unique perspective, which she uses to develop innovative solutions to manage our client's risk and realize opportunities for their success.

Outside of MJ, Carol loves to spend time with her family, work in the garden and participate in winter sports. A Pittsburgh girl at heart, Carol cheers for the Penguins, Pirates, and Steelers.
