Braden Pitts joined the MJ team in 2021 as the vice president of technology in the IT department and has since advanced to the role of chief information security officer and senior vice president of enterprise technology. Braden boasts over a decade of technical leadership experience, with a profound expertise in IT infrastructure management. As an active member of MJ's Senior Leadership Team (SLT), Braden's journey at MJ has been marked by transformative contributions, propelling our company towards its vision of being a data-driven, tech-enabled consulting powerhouse.

Prior to MJ, Braden made a major impact at an Indianapolis-based technology consulting organization, as he helped build dedicated service teams and worked closely with leadership as a trusted advisor for driving the success of the company's IT function. Braden's executive leadership skills including team management, organization effectiveness and strategic planning enables him to successfully develop data enterprise strategy and offer innovative analysis to MJ's clients.

Outside of the office, Braden is a passionate tech enthusiast, constantly honing his skills in microelectronics and programming. His love for all things related to automotive performance fuels his dreams of one day becoming an instrument-rated private pilot. When he's not immersed in the world of technology, Braden enjoys the thrill of travel and is an unwavering supporter of the Indianapolis Colts and the Pacers. You'll often find him in the stands, passionately cheering on his favorite teams.
