FAVORITE QUOTE

"When life gives me lemons, I make beef stew."

Alex Kaldis assumed the role of risk management consultant within our Risk Management + Commercial Insurance department upon joining the MJ team. In his role, Alex is responsible for acquiring new clients, nurturing relationships, and expertly executing tailor-made risk management strategies for our commercial clients. Alex's strengths lie in communicating and listening to each client to understand their unique challenges and ultimately develop a strategy that sustains long-term stability in a rapidly evolving business landscape.

Alex brings with him a wealth of sales and leadership experience, having served as an agency owner of a local brokerage in California. Throughout his time there, Alex navigated one of the toughest insurance markets to hit California, providing him with the knowledge and skillset to help our clients navigate the ever-changing market. His background and extensive knowledge in this field have been the driving force behind his dedication to serving the unique needs of our clients.

When not working, you can catch Alex behind the grill or catching up on sports. He also enjoys spending time outdoors. Whether he's walking his dog or fine-tuning his golf game, Alex likes to stay active! As an avid soccer fan, Alex hopes to one day attend the World Cup.
