Erich Veigel joined the MJ team as an employee benefits consultant in our Benefits Consulting department. Erich has since transitioned into the role of client executive and has added the designation of director of client experience to his repertoire. Erich's experience has made him an expert in wellness, benefits technology, plan design analysis, network analysis, Rx program analysis, as well as strategic planning and execution.

In his role, Erich leads a group of client executives while being responsible for ensuring the delivery of our value proposition and exceptional client experience. He also develops and executes employee benefits strategies for large group clientele.

Before joining MJ, Erich worked at Liberty Mutual as a personal lines sales representative and manager. He applies his industry knowledge and consultative approach to understand clients' corporate objectives fully. Erich aligns their employee benefits to their goals through analytics, wellness, communication, and compliance services and programs. As the strategic direction provider for the group, Erich strives to maximize employee benefits to support an organization's culture, making him an invaluable member of our team.

Outside of work, Erich and his wife spend most of their free time supporting their three children in youth sports, taking family vacations, and looking for more ways to enjoy time as a family. Together, they cheer for their favorite sports teams, cherish family movie nights, and enjoy dining out on the weekends. As the son of a German immigrant, Erich dreams of the day he can take his family to Germany to experience the culture and learn more about his father's heritage.
