Scott Bilyou joined the MJ team with over two decades of experience as a client executive within the Retirement department. Scott collaborates closely with retirement advisors to ensure the successful execution of their clients' retirement and financial wellbeing strategies. As a client executive, Scott oversees plan processes, conducts extensive plan document reviews, and provides operational support to the team.

Scott's contributions stem from his diverse experiences within the retirement space, having worked as an implementation consultant, account manager, and vice president & senior retirement plan services officer at leading retirement management companies. His ability to combine a strategic mindset with strong project management skills helps our clients bridge the gap between organizational challenges and solutions, making him an invaluable addition to the MJ team.

Outside of the office, Scott enjoys audiobooks, running, and travel. One day, he hopes to see the Hobbiton movie set in New Zealand—talk about an adventure!
