Moe Abdullahpour joined the MJ team in the role of business development for Benefits+ and risk management within the Benefits Consulting and Risk Management + Commercial Insurance departments. In this dynamic role, Moe drives new business development across all MJ business units and facilitates connections among local business leaders in our Nashville market through networking events, roundtables, and industry gatherings. His dedication to relationship management and passion for cultivating new opportunities are instrumental in the success of our partnerships.

Moe brings a wealth of expertise to our MJ team. Coming from a local branch of a national broker, where he served similarly-sized clients, he delivered enterprise-level strategic solutions and fostered high-value partnerships. His strengths lie in designing and implementing competitive, cost-effective employee benefits programs. He takes the time to learn the primary motivations and values within organizations and aligns their benefits and risk management strategies with their long-term objectives, making him an invaluable asset to MJ.

Outside of work, Moe likes to spend time with friends. Tagging along with a buddy or two to the gym, a new travel destination, or a sporting game is common for Moe!
